

Fall in Paris Journal

September 23 – Grève

We are really enjoying the city. Even the sirens of the emergency vehicles sound like music to us. Now that is love!

We watched a demonstration on our street Montparnasse. The police were out in force in riot gear. We expected a big confrontation, but nothing but a lot of people waving flags and shouting slogans. We weren't able to understand what they were yelling into the loudspeaker. We'll have to watch the evening news to find out what it was about. They are demonstrating against the new change in the retirement age raising it from 60 to 62. This is the second in a series of manifestations and strikes.

We don't have pictures of our own. Here are pictures from "metroreporter."

